Exquisite Stories

Everyone must use their imaginations to create an exquisite story, one line at a time.

Materials:

- Pieces of paper (suggested template provided)
- Pencil/pen

Step 1:

Gather your family together and as a group, have everyone write the first 2 sentences of a story on their paper. The first few sentences should be an introduction.

Step 2:

Once everyone has written their first lines, hand the paper to the person to your left. Read what the first person had written and continue the story with the next 2 sentences. These sentences should introduce a problem or challenge.

Step 3:

Once you have added the next 2 lines, fold the paper to cover the first two sentences and pass the paper along again and to have the third person write the next 2 lines. This could be where the problem or challenge unfolds.

Step 4:

Continue passing the paper around, folding the two lines before everytime until you have completed the story.

Step 5:

Once completed, take turns reading the complete stories outloud as a family to see how they all turned out.

Modifications:

- This activity could be done orally instead of written
- You could draw photos to complement the story as you progress it's plot
