Create:

Get inspired by the Morphology exhibition and create your own photo story documenting a landscape in your neighbourhood.

Step 1:

Go for a walk around your neighbourhood and find the landscape that you would like to document.

Step 2:

Take a photo of the landscape as a whole or a piece of the landscape that stands out to you.

Step 3:

The next day or week, go for a walk to the same landscape and either take another picture of the view or an aspect that stands out to you. This could be the same aspect as your last photo or something different.

Step 4:

Repeat consistently over a span of time. You could go to the same landscape once a day for a month or once a week for a few months, each time taking a photograph.

Step 5:

Once you have taken as many photos as you'd like, look at them all from the first to the last and reflect on how the landscape has changed. Share your pictures with someone else to see how they feel about the series too. Here are some questions to reflect on to get you started:

- What is different from your first photo to your last?
- How do the changes in photos make you feel?
- What stands out to you most?
- Are the differences in your pictures a result of natural changes in the environment (i.e. sunny/raining/different season) or from people (i.e. more garbage on the ground/trees cut down)?
