PAMA ADVISORY BOARD

Elaine KWAN is a registered teacher in Hong Kong and a certified educator of the International Baccalaureate. Having her master degrees in Applied English Linguistics and Global Public Policy, she is always interested in understanding the intercultural communication among people from different origins and backgrounds as well as exploring the policy issues in various parts of the world. Before she moved to Canada, she served in the public sector as an Executive Officer for more than 10 years, building her career with the focus primarily on policy and governance, human resources and financial management, community engagement, public-private partnership and client services. Because of Elaine's background and expertise, she aspires to promote youth education and advocate for youth empowerment. She also strives onwards to explore opportunities to engage the public towards the vision of arts and education for all. She is excited to contribute her skills and experiences in PAMA.
