PAMA ADVISORY BOARD

Ismat Jahan has a long history with PAMA that first started with an eighth grade class exhibition, which was held at PAMA. As one of the Curators for the showcase, she remembers the care with which the class put together an exhibition, a compilation of classmates' art. As this was her first year in a Canadian school, this opportunity built confidence, friendships and an appreciation for artistic expression.

Ismat is a CPA, with extensive experience in Finance, Governance and Systems. She believes there is significant scope for innovation and improved decision-making in nonprofit governance, leveraging technical skills to produce insights, from both qualitative and quantitative data, and many opportunities are often underutilized due to lack of resources. Having spent years working in an ever-evolving environment, with colleagues from across the globe, Ismat is very comfortable working across functional, cultural and generational diversity.
